How many there are who will say that the wonderful success of Colonel Tom Scott was the result of opportunity, and yet how very far they are from the truth when they say it. It was not opportunity but brains, and brains rightly directed are sure to win every time. Every year there are ten thousand young men in this country who have greater opportunities for a fair start in life than he had, and many of them have not only been helped on the road to success, but have act-been miserable failures. The new Bible, or rather the revised Testament, has created a stir in the world which in these indifferent times could hardly have been expected. The revision may not be an improvement, but it has had the good effect of arousing the curiosity of many and of inducing some to read it who never cared to look into the book before, and then there THE Mormon missionaries who have is a fashion in having the very latest of everything, whether it be novel, magazine, or Bible.

Ignorance is not always amusing, but sometimes the mistakes made by the unlearned are very laughable. The story of Stetson and the sciatica now going the rounds of the press is something like a mistake made some years ago by a man living in a small village in Maryland. Although no musician, he was passionately fond of music. His early education had been somewhat neglected, and Spanish was a dead language to him. One of his favorite songs was "Juniata" (pronounced wau-nee-ta). A young lady friend sang it very sweetly from memory, but had never had the notes of it. When the young man visited the city he went to a music store and asked for the song. It was given to him neatly rolled up, and upon his return he called on the lady with the roll and asked her to sing it. She took her seat at the piano, and the gallant admirer unrolled the music to place before her. Imagine her surprise to hear

A new interest has been awakened in this city and elsewhere in the subject of training nurses for the care of the sick and of providing schools for the purpose. It is almost impossible at present to form any estimate of the good to result from the experiment, for it is still too new and its operations too limited to do so. Everyone knows of individual cases where the assistance of a trained nurse has erences. been invaluable, and in times of public calamity not only in this country, but in others, they have been angels of mercy. Governor Shepherd and His Enemies. The men who abused Governor Shepherd for improving the city of Washington are now reaping the harvest he planted by selling their real estate at ten times the price it brought before his system of improvements was inaugurated, while the Governor is digging away in a gold-mine in Mexico. Streets which he improved, as the experts claimed, a century too soon, are now being lined with elegant residences. Millions of dollars have been invested in residences in Washington within the last four years upon real estate that had no value before Governor Shepherd became " Boss.' Property that was offered at $10 a foot in 1870, redeemed by his energy, sells now for $150 a foot, and the men who opposed him make the profit.-Inter-Ocean.
